

Anthony J. Rubi
Dr. Kevin Zadai, Instructor
Piano Level #1
17 February 2024

I felt that Brittany was a little nervous at first as she was trying to do the video and class, she also felt like a mother, speaking to the audience the same way she probably taught her children how to play the piano. The motherly authority figure in her was projecting out of her through the video lessons. At the same time, I completely appreciate the impartation and prayers that she prayed for me in the videos so that I could be a really good piano player for the glory of God.

So I have to admit that the piano course level #1 is something that I found very interesting. I took a music theory class last year yet at the same time I had no idea that a cord was three notes together at the same time.

There is a lot of good knowledge and understanding of heart and wisdom in these lessons. I had no idea that the c-chord was the c-note to the other c-note. Better known as the c-scale or octave. I also did not know in the past that the black notes don't belong in the C-scale.

I also did like what she said, I may paraphrase: "PRAY TO THE LORD & ASK HIM TO GIVE YOU WISDOM AND INSIGHT ON HOW TO PLAY THE PIANO, AND FOR GOD TO UNLOCK THOSE THINGS INSIDE OF YOU THAT MAY BE LOCKED UP, THAT YOU DON'T HAVE A GRASP ON YET."

There was a lot of good practicality in these lessons, so much so that I couldn't help but sit down and listen to the lectures while writing things down on my paper notepad. Such as the formulas known as whole, whole half, whole, whole, whole, half. And major, minor, minor, major, major, minor, diminished. Although this was a lot to take in, it is helping me start on a good foundation that I never learned in music theory last year.