The Prophetic Made Easy Level #1

This was a good course because I do have a deep desire to be used by The Holy Spirit to prophesy. Ever since I surrendered my life to Jesus, I found myself surrounded by unbelieving believers, those who have a form of godliness but deny the power thereof. And I saw how the devil used them to try to drown out my gifts and calling.

Dr. Kevin Zadai was correct when he said that churches usually start by following The Holy Spirit and growing in God's will, but a generation later they sometimes make compromises and use money to stop what God was doing in that church, then suddenly the church grows cold and then it becomes a one-man-show.

To confirm that statement with my own experience, I had a vision of The Holy Spirit leaving the church that I attended several years ago, then the pandemic happened, then a short time later the love for many in that church grew very cold. Suddenly those who were in leadership, couldn't fake it till they made it anymore. The fiery trials exposed who they were in their hearts. Then people stopped trusting in them, as that leadership stopped relying on The Holy Spirit, they instead relied on their gifts to keep them in their positions of power and influence. Unfortunately, the cessation spirit by that time had already gotten into the leadership there, and compromised their hearts against me by believing false accusations about my character, so by the time I found out what had happened, it was too late, and I knew the leadership would never listen to me.

And as time went on people started praying for God to send judgment upon that church, asking Jesus to take away their lamp stand for seven years. Also asking God to uproot their leadership and replace them with leaders that would invite The Holy Spirit back into that church to run it anyway He wants.

Because there was a genuine absence of love in leadership and their sermons. It caused them to sound offensive, judgmental, and narcissistic—like that of a tinkling cymbal. As they puffed up their souls with knowledge and exalted themselves as leaders in the church; they puffed up the souls of their congregation as well, with shallow anecdotes and with weak Bible teachings. They also failed to judge themselves in all this, which opened the door for them to be judged.

I also watched as the pastors and leaders felt so hurt by the hits of the enemy, that they didn't know who they could trust anymore. So they stuck to their small group of leaders in that church, which made people on the outside feel alienated, while it magnified divisions in the church and caused people to look at them like snobs—all because the leaders stopped walking in love and because they kicked The Holy Spirit out of their ministry.

To sum up the whole matter, the solution to it all is simple. Ask The Holy Spirit to help us walk in love in relationship with Jesus.
